Design a Map and a Compass for Navigating Your Career

The screenshot displays the CareerStorm Navigator interface, divided into three main sections:

- Map (Charting a course for your career): This section includes two key elements: Current position (Where are you starting from?) and Desired destination (Where might you be going?). The background features a map with a compass rose and a path.
- Compass (Clarifying your resources): This section includes four key elements: Interests, Skills, Style, and Values. A central compass rose diagram is shown with the words INTERESTS, SKILLS, VALUES, and STYLE around it, and the words where, what, how, and why at the cardinal directions.
- Navigating (Moving forward with confidence): This section includes one key element: Compare (Evaluate your career options). The background features a lighthouse on a rocky shore.

CareerStorm Navigator is a comprehensive career and life design system that brings into focus personally meaningful criteria for making career decisions. It allows you to design a map and a compass for navigating your career and life:

Map: Chart a course for your career

Position: Evaluate past career (and life) positions and what you liked and disliked about them.

Destination: Set goals for your career and seven other aspects of your life.

Compass: Clarify your resources

Interests: Recall subjects of interest you most enjoy.

Skills: Identify your social, practical, information and creative abilities.

Style: Increase awareness of your personal style.

Values: Examine your values and purpose.

Navigating: Move forward with confidence

Compare: Use Map and Compass results to weigh potential career options.
